NDILA
AUCTIONEERS

COMPANY PROFILE

ABOUT US

Ndila Auctioneers was founded in 2019, black female majority shareholding.

Ndila is an auction and property trading company originated on the credence that informed sellers and buyers to recognise integrity, accountability, respect, excellence and professionalism. This is what we abidingly bring to each one of our auctions – from on-site estate sales and multiple commercial or residential auctions, to our many movable events.

> We believe in the auction mechanism and we wholeheartedly subscribe to the ethics and morals underpinning our industry.

We are actively and personally involved in the work we do, and our experienced team of professionals successfully manages all aspects of the auction – from site preparation, advertising and marketing to conducting the auction itself, as well as the final clean-up and consolidation. We strive to improve the auction experience – for buyers and sellers alike. We believe in the auction mechanism and we wholeheartedly subscribe to the ethics and morals underpinning our industry.

Homeowner, business owner, broker, banker, attorney, developer, builder, heir, executor, board member or investor, Ndila Auctioneers takes the time to understand your unique selling requirements, concerns, and goals, and create an auction marketing program to accomplish your goals.

Our marketing experience covers a wide variety of governmental, commercial and residential assets including office and bank buildings, industrial warehouse manufacturing plants, large, medium and small tracts of assorted use vacant parcels, apartment buildings, condominium complexes and individual units, trophy homes, single family residences and builders' closeouts of single-family developments.
With our innovative marketing skills and techniques, we offer our clients access to a wide range of platforms throughout the entire buying or selling process. This includes the opportunity, for both buyer and seller, to transact on auction or by private treaty.
We offer associations in all the main centres, including Gauteng, Cape Town, Kwa-Zulu Natal, Bloemfontein, North West and Kimberley.

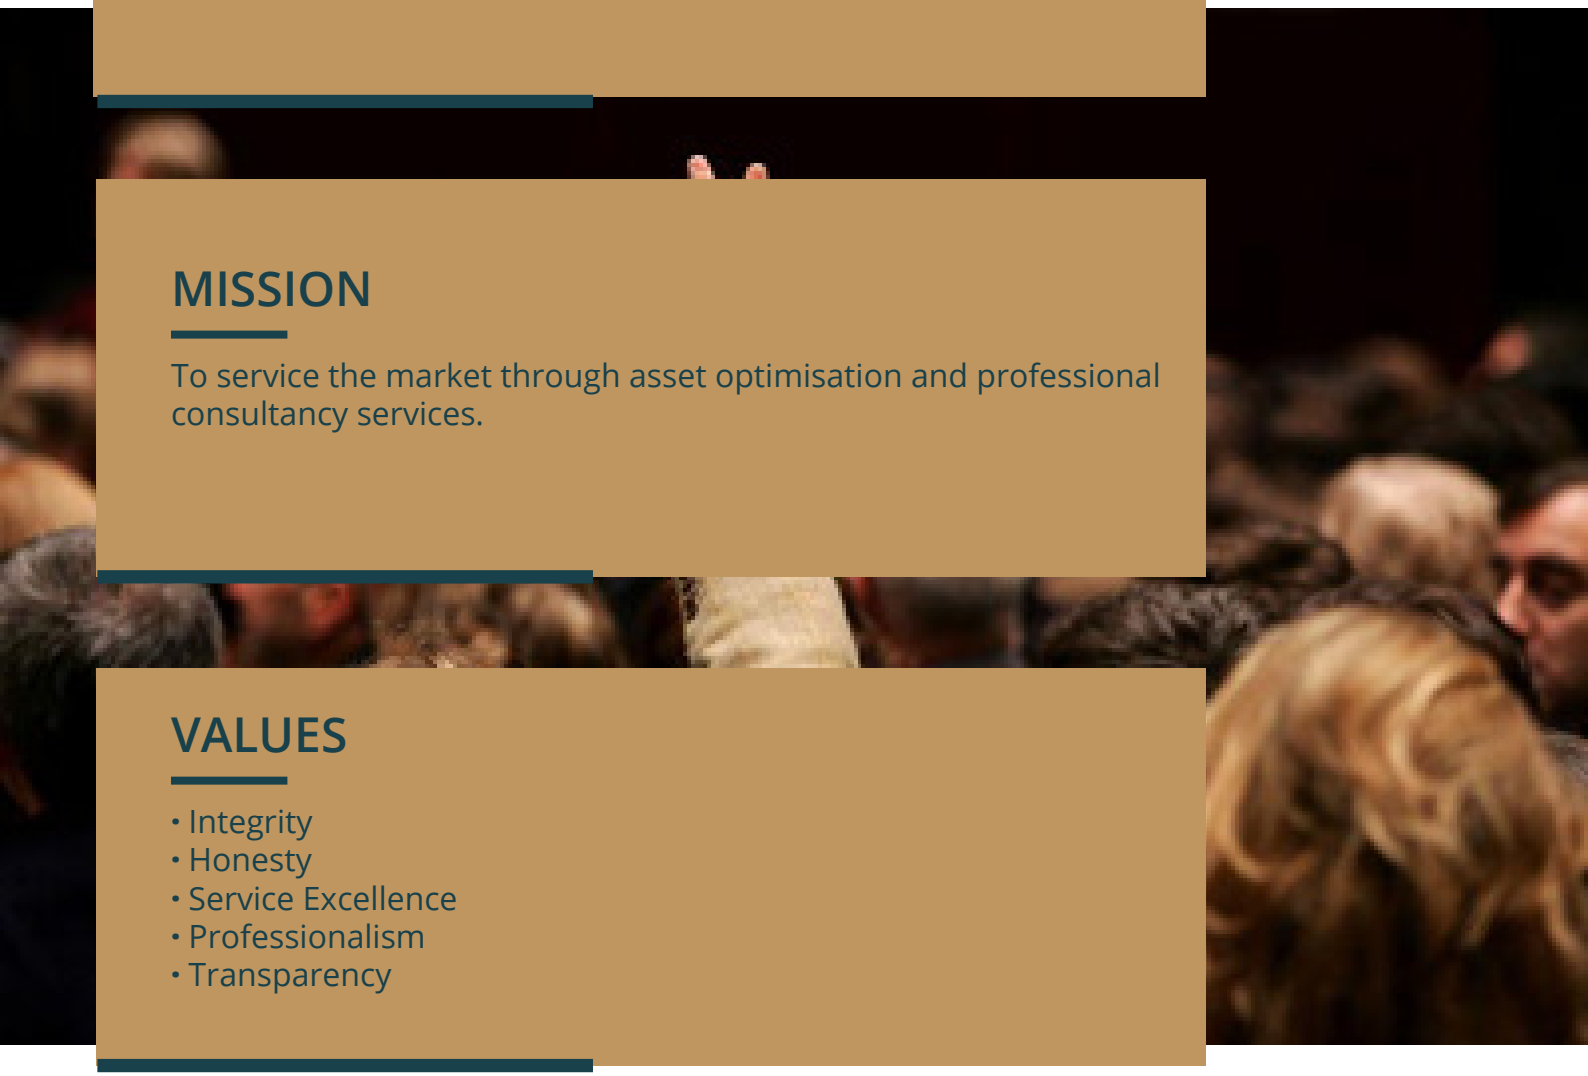

Our client base covers various sectors of the South African market and includes corporate enterprises, liquidators, financial institutions, government departments, as well as individuals and private investors. We have the experience, track record and professional team to turn your auction into a worldwide event. If you are interested in buying or selling commercial, retail, residential properties or movable assets, such as vehicles, trucks and mining equipment, Ndila Auctioneers can assist nationwide.

MANAGEMENT TEAM

Ms. Meriam Badugela (Director)

Meriam is a driven, passionate and enthusiastic hard worker who leads by example. She is an adaptive creative thinker, collaborator, problem solver and sharp businesswoman. She has worked in both the private sector and government with roles across strategic support functions, administration and management. Her industries of exposure and exercise of duty have been Social Development, Hospitality and Financial Services.

Meriam is in possession of an NQF Level 5 Qualification from SITA, a Computer Networking Certificate from Boston City Campus and is currently doing her LLB degree with the University of South Africa (UNISA).

Refaegen Lutchman (National Business Development Manager)

Refaegen has been a very keen businessman since a very tender age and ventured into selling various consumables and other products to his fellow pupils and other users whilst still at school. After school he ventured into retailing used cars, bakkies and trucks as part of a family business that is still operational till to date.

In 2012 Refaegen completed a program in business management, with a NQF level 6 rating. With his passion and eagerness for business and in particular, retailing, Refaegen decided to enrol for and complete his Diploma in Auctioneering with The College of Auctioneering. He went on to join BSL services during 2014 in order to gain experience in the auctioneering industry.

Refaegen then joined Deltagreen, where he was the operations and marketing manager. His functions included, inter alia, the collection and retailing of used cooking oil from various blue chip restaurant chains and selling it off to international exporters, who in turn converted the said oil into bio diesel. After that market took a massive dip Refaegen returned to the auctioneering industry and worked for 4 Dimension Auctioneers where he learnt more about the auction industry and more about the technological side of the industry.

Refaegen has expressed a very keen interest in the online auctioneering space, whilst still keeping the personal touch with all the valued clients. The Ndila venture is the next big venture and challenge which will enjoy Refaegen's focus and energy to establish this entity's rightful place in the auctioneering industry and build it into the a power house at the disposal of its clients.

MANAGEMENT TEAM

Mr. Pieter Geldenhuys (Principal)

After completing his military service as an Infantry School officer, Pieter started out in the teaching profession. However, he continued his studies at the University of Potchefstroom at the Vaal Campus and ventured into the banking industry, where he acquired a wealth of financial skills. Pieter moved up through the ranks in the financial sector and soon became part of the management team of what was then Boland Bank. When the Bank decided to sell their "Eiendomsdienste en Afslaers" division to Seeff, Pieter opened up Seeff Auctions in the Northern Region. He subsequently grew this newly founded business into a solid, profitable and sustainable auction concern, and into a household name in and around Pretoria. After almost two decades in the auction industry and with a healthy passion for the business, Pieter decided to make his move – and founded Bidders Choice.

As a veteran auctioneer throughout South Africa and in neighbouring states, Pieter has conducted substantial mining auctions. In his personal capacity he has also presided over huge agricultural and farming-related auctions, including the sale of livestock, several game lodges and farming equipment. Pieter has also conducted many commercial multiple auctions and distinguished himself as an auctioneer of exceptional skill and versatility. Pieter firmly believes that transparency and humility are indispensable traits and that you should always treat buyers and sellers with the same dignity and respect that you expect from others. He believes trust is earned and should never be lost – even under the toughest circumstances.
